Decision Making Matrix Using Values:

This is a great tool to help you deliberately consider your values for important decisions and choices that you may be making. Play with this tool to test decisions that you have made in the past to see if you in fact would have done anything different.

Use this chart when you need to make important choices, like which job to take or career direction to follow. Write down a question relating to the choice. List your top values in the first column and then rate each value with the question in mind.

Example: Should I pursue a position working for _____? Rate how satisfied you would be for each of your top priority values. You can do this for as many choices as you want. Ideally the choice you make will bring satisfaction in many of your top values.

Question:

_____
_____
_____

Rate on a scale of 1 to 10 (1 being not satisfied, 10 being totally satisfied)
